MEDICINAL.

It Makes You Hungry

Paine's Celery Compound

It is a unique tonic and appetizer. Pleasant to the taste, quick in its action, and without any injurious effect, it gives that rugged health which makes everything taste good. It cures dyspepsia and kindred disorders. Physicians prescribe it. J. T. COPLAND, PHARM. S. C.

Spring medicine means now-a-days that it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of today—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians, Recommended by Druggists, Endorsed by Ministers, Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be

The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 1887 I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling, and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need building up and strengthening medicine." Mrs. R. A. DOW, Burlington, Vt.

The Champion Rascal.

The officials of the Cook county, Ill., jail have on their hands, in the person of James Egan, a strikingly handsome young fellow, who, with a long criminal career, combines a good education, polished manners and the muscular development of an athlete. Egan is locked up under the alias of J. H. Ham-mill, on the charge of forgery. His remarkable conduct since his arrest in Chicago, gives renewed interest to his previous sensational record. At Denver, Col., three years ago, Egan secured entrance to the first social circles, and was a great favorite until he was arrested on two charges of forgery. He was sent to the penitentiary at Bowlder for two years. It was then ascertained that he had previously done time in the penitentiary at Jackson, Mich. When Egan was released from the Colorado prison he went to Chicago, and last October was arrested for forging a promissory note purporting to be drawn by James H. Walker & Co., in favor of "Jas. H. Hamill" for $4,675 for payment of the steam fittings in the firm's new building. Egan, or as he calls himself, Hamill, endeavored to negotiate the note with the Surety Loan and Savings Company. While in jail awaiting trial he endeavored to induce State Attorney Longnecker to be lenient with him, offering in return to give valuable evidence against the bond thieves Shaw, Pleaser and Corbett. When placed on the stand, Egan told an ingenious story, to the effect that C. D. Taylor had given him the bonds subsequently received by Shaw. Egan, however, broke down under cross examination, and convinced the State's Attorney that he was a rascal. When taken back to jail he suddenly became insane; but failing to convince Dr. Egbert that his mind was gone, he changed his tactics and became very ill. For days he lay on his cot in a semi-comatose condition, and the most careful watch failed to show that he was shamming. His aim was to be sent to the hospital, and the doctor had decided to allow him to go there when he spoiled his chances. He was seized with a violent fit of coughing, and when the physician next made his round Egan showed him about a pint of blood which he had coughed up. At a glance Dr. Egbert saw that the blood was arterial, and not lung blood. He carefully searched the prisoner, but could not find the slightest sign of a wound from which the blood had been drawn. The shrewd forger had probably drawn it from either his mouth or nostrils. But Dr. Egbert is of the opinion that Egan is very sick, though by no means in the dangerous condition he assumed. He is an inveterate morphine eater, and has taken as much as twenty grains a day. The physician allowed him some morphine in gradually reduced doses until a daily dose of one grain was all he was allowed. This was suddenly stopped, as Dr. Egbert became suspicious that Egan was "holding out" some of the drug from each dose with the evident idea of securing enough to make a suicidal dose in case of emergency. The supposed missing morphine cannot be found, but the doctor is afraid of his wily patient, and wishes him safe out of his hands. Egan is too sick for trial, and not sick enough to go to the hospital. He has apparently made up his mind not to go to the penitentiary again, and, in all probability, has the means at his disposal to commit suicide. The officials are all anxious to be rid of such a champion rascal.

FAUQUIER NOTES.—A few days since on the farm of Mr. A. B. C. Whitacre, near Markham, a lamb was born with two perfectly developed bodies of the same size, one male and one female, but with one head and two necks. The two necks merged into one and with only one perfectly shaped head. It was injured at its birth and lived only a few minutes.

Friday last the tenant house on the farm of Mr. Wm. N. Berryman, near Bealeton, was burned. It was occupied by Mr. Oliver and family. Mr. Oliver was away and his daughters had great difficulty in escaping from their sick mother and a few articles of clothing.

A family by the name of Freeman, living near Grove Church, have been sadly afflicted with typhoid pneumonia, three of the daughters having died recently. They were all grown. Other members of the family are ill.

Mr. A. J. Sillings has had an offer of ten thousand dollars, from parties in Pennsylvania, for his farm near Bealeton.
